Sent	Jan 5, 2023 10:43:46 AM	Misconception is not to the importance of parenthood, but rather the execution of 2 separate paths and varied versions of what it is. You started by calling my parenting style "love and logic"- which gave me the illusion that parenting was a passion and a focus of learning Ghost peppers
Sent	Jan 5, 2023 10:35:07 AM	Start by admitting that if we did not have a child in common that you would have chosen to have left me many years ago. Start by admitting that our relationship only exists because we are suppose to be working together to raise the children Admit that we failed and would have failed if it wasn't for the misconception of parenthood
Sent	Jan 5, 2023 10:29:20 AM	Same here Except who would pay the bills
Received	Jan 5, 2023 10:28:37 AM	No I think that I don't matter. I'm only here for what others want from me... so what does it matter??? If I die today who cares? Peyton... that is it.

Sent	Jan 5, 2023 10:19:29 AM	I quit the kids years ago And I even told you that I was severing the bond between the kids and I in preparation And I told you the problems that would come And those problems came
Received	Jan 5, 2023 10:19:04 AM	I'm a walking zombie. I do what you guys tell me. And I don't understand and do it wrong and then it cycles around and around again. I try to get a positive mindset. I set out yesterday with a plan to start the year better and positive. Meal prep meal planning and eating healthy. Focus on fixing that as step 1. Step to organize my areas. I woke up trying. You won't let me. You want me to FAIL so you can say told you so.

Sent	Jan 5, 2023 10:18:16 AM	I quit you along time ago
Sent	Jan 5, 2023 10:18:00 AM	10 years asking, telling, screaming for you to take care of what is ours Take care of our family, take care of our possessions, take care of our health and us for the future You never have understood your importance not the value in this work It shows by your results and your reluctance to see that value
Received	Jan 5, 2023 10:14:47 AM	You want me to grow? You keep cutting a plant down and stepping on it how can it? You constantly tell me I am a terrible person that I mean nothing to you... I've been holding myself above water barely. You are mean and cruel to me on purpose. So much so that I don't care about anything any more.

To send letters, and correspondence to the kids and families looking for decorations that they have that they never have used and probably will never use - and take the entertainment center box- or another large box and put it at the main entrance of the school. Decorate the box And collect the box when it is full to maintain a 1/3rd level We have Christmas lights that we will never use that is brand new in the box We have timers and all sorts of stuff Then- what you don't use- then donate to a charity organization and keep the rest

Sent	Apr 25, 2022 4:51:24 PM	Self employment for a small business really depends on the type of boss that you have. In my experience, my boss can be flighty, unreliable and overly critical of my work. He argues with me constantly and then I get accused of arguing with myself. He is incredibly over bearing and follows me everywhere I go. There is no off time- there are just quite times in between a chaotic moment and awaiting the next chaotic moment. I would recommend against small business ownership and instead find a company where enjoyment can be found for awhile until a change of scenery is needed- then exercise the right to quit and start with a new group of new people and start over

Sent	Mar 15, 2022 7:11:44 AM	How does that make sense? Why would heads of state fly into a war torn country with opposition all throughout the city, bridges destroyed, no air superiority left at all... And no measurable way to protect a, supposing, helicopter that flies in heads of State? It would take a single person with the right equipment or a great shot with a rifle to ignite a larger scale conflict

I have guilt for the opportunities that I blew- especially with how I have handled a lot of these situations And u controllable with my anger towards how challenging doing anything with you for so many years 9 years has been too long.

Received	Nov 18, 2021 7:42:37 PM	The thing I don't get... because it isn't part of me is how you can be so cruel and mean to someone. There is absolutely nothing I have done to you that warrants being so cold hearted to someone you have been with for 9 years. You act as though I am an evil person and I am not.

Sent	Oct 9, 2021 7:34:49 AM	Our business, backbreaking low wage, is where people are trying to shift from and to something else. People don't choose roofing- they end up in roofing. At market correction, there will be enough people that fall back down far enough that we will have more employees. Once enough good guys fall on hard enough times, then we can start getting better workers. But if society is improving, then our work force dries up and the work load increases... Down economy- it seems that everyone is a carpenter.... Steady growth is always the best

Sent	Oct 9, 2021 7:17:53 AM	This is no surprise. I called this while reading the Cares Act. Government will have to raise taxes to pay for all the extra spending. Not just the stimulus- but everything that will come from the disruption of COVID from the start to whatever time that the new normal begins. New normal has not started yet. The new normal is having it's peaks and valleys- and with the ongoing issues with incredible disagreements at the Federal levels- over these kinds of topics could and highly likely will be the event that caused the market correction- in which the 3.5 trillion will be passed anyways or the poor could either "eat the rich" or try or do damage.

I figure that if he is right in this article, then if enough agree, meet and organize (or have already) then this could pick up steam... If people are just more lazy, addicted, depressed, or dead too (700,000 vacancies) (elderly create jobs which is why they are so expensive to take care of) then it may be voids in other industries and people are shifting around... And we own a company of low wage back breaking shit job with no benefits... And benefits would mean bankruptcy which is not a benefit...
